Necker Hospital for Sick Children of Paris receives gift of paintings from Delta Air Lines

Delta Air Lines presented the initial gift of 6 paintings to Necker Hospital to celebrate the initiation of Delta's flights into Paris from Atlanta.

At the same time John Feight began mural work. He will return to Paris in June with a group of volunteers from the States to complete the program. Children at the hospital will paint with John.

A black and white photograph of a magazine cover for "Hospital Art News". The title is written in a large, flowing cursive font. Below it, a red heart contains the words "The Foundation for Hospital Art". The editor's name, Barbara V. Johnson, is printed in a smaller font. The main headline reads "Necker Hospital for Sick Children of Paris receives gift of paintings from Delta Air Lines". Below the headline, there is a paragraph about Delta's gift of six paintings and John Feight's mural work. At the bottom, there are six numbered photographs labeled 1 through 6, showing various artworks and scenes related to the gift. A large red Delta logo with the word "Paris" is at the bottom right.
